LOCATION

Stunning Conversion in the heart of Chertsey

Chertsey is a town in Surrey, England, on the right bank of the River Thames where it is met by the Abbey River and a tributary of the River Bourne. It is in the Greater London Urban Area, bordered by Thorpe Park, junction 11 of the M25 motorway, and the villages of Lyne, Longcross and Ottershaw, and only 29 kilometers (18 mi) south-west of central London.

The towns Anglican church has a medieval tower and chancel roof, and many 18th-century listed buildings including the stone Chertsey Bridge and Botleys Mansion. The green spaces include the Thames Path National Trail, Chertsey Meads and a round knoll (St Ann’s Hill) with remains of a prehistoric hill fort known as Eldebury Hill. Chertsey is also home to a thriving community, with plenty of cafes, bars, gastro pubs and restaurants all within easy reach.
